SUB: AY 2023-24 – MSE-I examinations for III, V and VII semester B.Tech. students scheduled from 11.9.2023 –Instructions to the students - Reg.

****

Dear Students,

Greetings!

The MSE-I examination for III, V and VII semester B.Tech. students are scheduled from 11.9.2023.

It has been confirmed that some of the students who have neglected the Mid Semester Examinations (MSEs), for various reasons, are unable to complete the course even after faring well in the End Semester Examination (ESE).

The students are hereby instructed to focus on scoring well in the MSE-I and attend the MSEs without fail.

To pass a course, the students should have to acquire the minimum marks in each of the following components

S. No.	Component		Minimum marks
1.	MSE-I & II (70% of Max + 30% of Min)	:	11
2.	TA: Average of {Minor-I, Minor-II, SA-I, SA-II and CA}	:	3
3.	ESE	:	21
	Total minimum for PASS	:	35

To score minimum marks, the students are advised to focus on the following

1. Revise the course notes from the Single Source (SS) Notebook
2. Practice thoroughly the Tutorial sheet problems
3. Go through the sample questions & solutions posted by course faculty under Previous Semesters – Additional Exam Papers & Solutions
4. To score minimum in TA: Submit the Special Assignments (SA) & Coding Assignment (CA) within the prescribed time
5. Students should note that the TA for 10 marks is posted as an average of {Minor-I, Minor-II, SA-I, SA-II and CA} each evaluated for 10 marks. So, if you skip any of these, then scoring minimum 3 marks in TA becomes difficult

All the best!
